

On Tuesday, March 23, 2010, the Richfield Advisory Board of Health and the Richfield City Council presented the 2009 Food Safety Awards. These awards are given annually to restaurants as a way of acknowledging excellence in food safety and service and are intended to focus on the good work that restaurants do rather than focusing on the bad.

The Chair of the Richfield Advisory Board of Health, Jennifer Turrentine, presented plaques to the following establishments in three different food categories:
